Animal health laboratories

Cutting edge technology and infrastructure

Animal health laboratories have an adequate infrastructure to provide timely, reliable and quality diagnostic and verification services.

Highly specialized personnel employs the most modern techniques using world-class cutting edge equipment. These laboratories are prepared for the timely detection of exotic and enzootic diseases and to address sanitary emergencies.