

Press Release

Francisco Javier Trujillo Arriaga

The Secretariat of Agriculture and Rural Development reports that the Director-in-Chief of the National Service for Agro-alimentary Public Health, Safety, and Quality (SENASICA), Francisco Javier Trujillo Arriaga, has decided to leave his position, which will become effective on the thirtieth of November of this year.

The head of Agriculture, Víctor Villalobos Arámbula, acknowledged the work carried out by Dr. Trujillo Arriaga during the four years he performed as head of the organization, and he asked the task force to strengthen coordination with the various units related to the protection of the national agro-alimentary heritage and the productive sector.

Dr. Trujillo thanked the Secretary of Agriculture for the opportunity to join the work of Mexico's government, as well as for farmers' productivity and competitiveness in the countryside, through the protection of health of the national agro-alimentary production.