

Weed Science Laboratory

The weed science department performs pest diagnoses whenever a new pest is found or provides support to official programs such as epidemiological monitoring and the National Campaign against Regulated Weeds.

This laboratory currently identifies weeds by means of taxonomic codes, documentary images or by comparing them with the laboratory reference collection.