

Bud rot

Pest under active surveillance

This pest is considered one of the most devastating pineapple diseases because it can cause losses of 30% to 90% in production and spreads rapidly in plots. This disease affects pineapple plants in general, especially the MD2 variety, which is highly susceptible to this fungus.