

Declaration of Intent of the Alliance for Food Safety

Mexico and the United States

Through this Declaration, health institutions of National Secretaries of Agriculture and Rural Development and Health, and the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) will promote collaborative actions with academic, scientific, and educational institutions, consumer groups and the private sector, with the aim of gaining greater knowledge of the safety systems of both countries, establishing bases of mutual trust in their corresponding systems, and identifying additional areas of opportunity of mutual interest.