

Import of livestock goods

The Zoosanitary requirements that the importers of livestock goods to Mexico must meet are established in the zoosanitary requirements datasheet to guarantee an adequate level of zoosanitary protection for the national livestock breeding.

Before beginning an import proceeding, consult the requirements for the goods intended for import at the Import Zoosanitary Requirements Help Desk (MCRZI, in Spanish). The following is required basic data with which the user can find the applicable combination according to:

- Species
- Group of goods
- Goods
- Country of origin
- Country of departure

Since the combinations can change, it is necessary to regularly check the Help Desk before importing.

Please address any doubts or comments concerning any combination of zoosanitary requirements to the following e-mail address:

reqzoosan.dgsa@senasica.gob.mx janet.chavez@senasica.gob.mx

If the livestock product is not listed in the MCRZI, carry out the procedure for unlisted goods.
